

In-Kind Donation Policy

To our donors:

Saving Grace will gladly accept donations of clothing, food and other items on an as-needed basis. These donations will be used within our programs, given away to community members in need or sold to bring in revenue for Saving Grace.

Saving Grace provides services to over 5,000 people annually. We are literally bursting at the seams. Every inch of every room is being used to provide vital programs and services, including sheltering our clients, providing crisis counseling, therapy, support groups, respite child-care and more. Please understand we are unable to store donated items for long periods of time and only seek items that our clients can utilize immediately or that require little storage space.

To Make a Donation please contact:

Saving Grace, 541-382-9227

When you call, you will receive information about what items we can use and how we may utilize them. As a matter of discretion we may choose to refuse items based on the lack of need and/or space for the item at the time.

To our employees:

Saving Grace will continue to accept in-kind donations with the intent of our clients utilizing these donations. Unused items will be stored as we are able, or donated to another local non-profit as appropriate. In-kind donations are not for the personal use of employees. At the discretion of management, Saving Grace may have a rummage sale to sell the unused in-kind donations with the proceeds benefitting the organization. Employees are welcome to purchase any of these items at the sale.
